MISSOURI CLEAN WATER COMMISSION REQUESTS INFORMATION ON SWIMMING IN MALINE CREEK, RIVER DES PERES AND MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Have you ever swum in these waterways? Do you know if anyone has swum in these waterways during the last 30 years?

The Missouri Clean Water Commission is seeking information on swimming in Maline Creek, River des Peres and Mississippi River. The Commission invites the public to comment on the use of Maline Creek, River des Peres and the Mississippi River for swimming or other whole body recreation, where it takes place, and the specific dates or times of year, if known. The comment period ends Nov. 28, 2005.

On Sept. 7, the Commission approved draft changes to the state's Water Quality Standards, increasing the protection of Missouri's waters from pollution. Among the changes approved, the Commission voted to establish bacteria standards on an additional 15,780 miles of streams to protect the health of people who swim in these streams. This action increased the length of stream segments protected for swimming in Missouri from 5,531 miles to 21,311 miles.

However, the commission determined that Maline Creek, River des Peres and the Mississippi River from Dam #27 to the Ohio River are not suitable for swimming because of various stream characteristics. Therefore bacterial standards will not apply to the waterways, and wastewater treatment plants discharging to these water segments will not be required to upgrade their plants to disinfect their effluent. However, the commission will reconsider this determination if swimming or other whole body recreation occurs in the water bodies.

The commission's action does not reduce any of the protections currently required to protect public health and the environment from the discharge of any water body pollution. The commission's action is a technical amendment to the Missouri Department of Natural Resources' water quality standards. The commission's action is subject to review by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

WATER COMMISSION
REQUESTS INFORMATION
ON SWIMMING IN MALINE

AND MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Have you ever swum in these waterways? Do you know if anyone has swum in these waterways during the last 30 years?

The Missouri Clean Water Commission is seeking information on swimming in Maline Creek, River des Peres and Mississippi River. The Commission invites the public to comment on the use of Maline Creek, River des Peres and the Mississippi River for swimming or other whole body recreation, where it takes place, and the specific dates or times of year, if known. Therefore bacterial standards will not apply to the waterways, and wastewater treatment plants discharging to these water segments will not be required to upgrade their plants to disinfect their effluent. However, the commission will reconsider this determination if swimming or other whole body recreation occurs in the water bodies.

The commission's action does not reduce any of the protections currently required under state or federal clean water law. Plants that discharge to any water body operate under permits from the Department of Natural Resources that require treatment to reduce or remove many chemical and physical pollutants. This to protect uses of the stream including aquatic life, livestock watering, human health, fish consumption, irrigation, drinking water supplies and industrial use.

The commission will review and consider information at its January meeting. Information should be sent to Stacia Bax, Use Attainability Analysis Coordinator, Missouri Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 176, Jefferson City, MO 65102-0176. Comments will also be accepted through e-mail at stacia.bax@dnr.mo.gov. Questions may be directed to Stacia Bax at 1-800-361-4827 or (573) 751-1300.

Have you ever swum in these waterways? Do you know if anyone has swum in these waterways during the last 30 years?

The Missouri Clean Water Commission is seeking information on swimming in Maline Creek, River des Peres and Mississippi River. The Commission invites the public to comment on the use of Maline Creek, River des Peres and the Mississippi River for swimming or other whole body recreation, where it takes place, and the specific dates or times of year, if known. The comment period ends Nov. 28, 2005.

On Sept. 7, the Commission approved draft changes to the state's Water Quality Standards, increasing the protection of Missouri's waters from pollution. Among the changes approved, the Commission voted to establish bacteria standards on an additional 15,780 miles of streams to protect the health of people who swim in these streams. This action increased the length of stream segments protected for swimming in Missouri from 5,531 miles to 21,311 miles.

However, the commission determined that Maline Creek, River des Peres and the Mississippi River from Dam #27 to the Ohio River are not suitable for swimming because of various stream characteristics. Therefore bacterial standards will not apply to the waterways, and wastewater treatment plants discharging to these water segments will not be required to upgrade their plants to disinfect their effluent. However, the commission will reconsider this determination if swimming or other whole body recreation occurs in the water bodies.

The commission's action does not reduce any of the protections currently required under state or federal clean water law. Plants that discharge to any water body operate under permits from the Department of Natural Resources that require treatment to reduce or remove many chemical and physical pollutants. This is to protect uses of the stream including aquatic life, livestock watering, human health, fish consumption, irrigation, drinking water supply and industrial use.

The commission will review and consider information at its January meeting. Information should be sent to: Anna B. Use Attainability Analysis, Coordinator, Missouri Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 179, Jefferson City, MO 65115-0179. Comments will also be accepted through email at anna.baxewski@dnr.mo.gov. Questions may be directed to Anna Baxewski at
